

About the Author

John Scenters-Zapico, Associate Professor of Writing and Rhetoric Studies at the University of Texas at El Paso, was the founding director of the PhD in Rhetoric and Writing Studies at UTEP, and has served as director of the M.A. in RWS. He has co-directed with his colleague, Elaine Fredericksen, the Spanish and English Professional Bilingual Writers Certificate and teaches bilingual technical and workplace writing classes. The author's current research focuses on how bilinguals learn traditional and electronic literacies in niche settings. In addition to his research in Generaciones' Narratives, he is working on a project examining the role of technology in minimum wage jobs, and another looking at the positive and negative effects literacy sponsors have on those they sponsor.
